THE MUSICAL FESTIVAL

The fact that there are some seven hundred contestants entered in the Grande Prairie Musical Festival, held in the town of Grande Prairie this week, suggests a very real development in this part of the Peace River country.

The Tribune from time to time has stated that if the cultural side of life is overlooked in the development of this country we will have missed our destiny. Of all the arts, music exerts the greatest influence on any community, being, as it is, the language of the world.

In the Peace River, where we have many nationalities, there isn't anything which comes and is not simply a nationalistic thing. In this regard it is an interesting thing to consider the people of this country, something highly necessary in building up a healthy community life upon which the success of our Dominion depends.

Musical knows no special nationality. Sound the note and people who may not understand one another will respond as if by magic.

Someone once said: "Let me make the songs of a country and I care not who makes its laws."

The average person has no idea of the immense amount of work required in carrying out a big musical festival. Hours of work on the part of the committees are spent in working out the details. All this with very few exceptions, without any remuneration. Those who undertake such work at the expense of their own time are performing the duties of citizenship in the highest and best sense. They are giving a contribution to society which will live on.

The splendid response which the Musical Festival receives from the various towns, villages and districts is an indication that the people are at all times willing to co-operate in building up a well-balanced civilization in this part of the Dominion. It is to be hoped that the weather will be favorable to the holding of the big week-end.

NEW WEEKLY MAKES ITS APPEARANCE

The St. Paul Canadian made its bow to the public on May 15, and The Tribune hastens to greet the new paper into the family of weeklies.

The Canadian is a neat five-column eighth-page paper, well made, and on an appeal to its district.

Moore, Mack and Williams are the publishers. The former is the business manager and the latter editor.

It takes real courage and an immense amount of energy these days to start any new project, especially a newspaper. However, the world belongs to batters.

We extend to The Canadian best wishes for success.

WHY NOT POOL THE FREIGHT RATES?

The other day a candy traveller asked the writer if he had heard of a scheme in Toronto which sells at every other point for the same price it retails at in that city.

Why could not this principle be applied to freight rates? The railway made in Toronto which sells at every other point for the same price it retails at in that city.

ANOTHER NEW MOVEMENT UNDER WAY

According to the Weekly Sun, which paper gives considerable space to the problems of agriculture and the development of the Peace River Country, a new movement is being organized in the Peace River Country and to "give" many advantages as a home-land. All news is printed without sectional discussion. The paper's opinions are expressed only in its editorial columns.

BIGGER ARMY
BIGGER NAVY

The idea was copied from Denmark, and it is credited with putting that country in its present enviable agricultural position. The purpose of the movement is to stimulate interest in agriculture by creating small units of boys and girls all over the country.

According to The Sun's article, written by Donald McLean, a young Dane explained the results of this movement in Denmark. He said, in part:

"The New Denmark Movement is becoming the soul of Denmark. We are Denmark. To us has been entrusted the life of the nation. In every rural community there are units, some times two or three. Their members have learned how to be citizens."

CITIZENS, that's what all citizens who live in simple habits, stirred with great emotions, yet with an outlook on life tremendously rural."

According to the article, the movement had spread into the towns and villages and even into the cities. The youth was to be found. The barbers between town and country had been doing and urban youth were the soundness of the slogan "Save Agriculture—Save Denmark."

Further, they had refused the educational system, public services and community life.

As the Tribune sees it from this distance, the movement should be given every encouragement for the reason that it has its basis in economic life and is not simply a political party.

There is another reason why this movement should be encouraged and supported, and that is that in a few years it will have covered the country, and the administration of business will be in the hands of the youth of the country, and no better can the future be approached than by the youth of the country.

BE CLEAN

At the time when John Wesley said "cleanliness is next to godliness" one of its truest meanings, in all truthfulness, and sometimes it is next to impossible. The good old days may have been romantic and picturesque, but on the whole conditions were very dirty and foul-smelling and unbecomingly, because of vermin.

As the standards of cleanliness are raised, one of the striking contrasts between the civilized and the uncivilized is the different attitude which exists regarding cleanliness of person and in the handling of food.

A great deal of cleanliness has no direct bearing upon health, most of it is a matter of what we would call the "practical" part of cleanliness, a sense of comfort and self-respect associated with a clean body in clean clothes, and consideration for others to whom a dirty body is offensive to sight and smell.

It is the first time I have seen a man who is old-fashioned; they don't fit our times. Well, so are prosperity and neighborly kindness old-fashioned and we must make our times to fit our new age.

In your issue of May 10, J. M. S. says, "What is wrong with the present condition of life? (The answer is) what which means the same as the more respectable one-interest."

WEDNESDAY EVENING (At United Church)

Piano and vocal solos held the centre of the stage at the United Church on Wednesday evening.

Piano Solos

In the intermediate (under 17 years) (1) "Minuet" and (2) "Pavane" (Palmier), the awards were made as follows:

Hannah Poppen 75-75-151
Dorothy Adams 75-75-148
Marie Henning 75-75-145
Cecil Lewis 75-75-143

The principal criterion was that the competitors were a trifle fast in both selections.

In the open (1) "Waltz in D Flat Major" (Chopin); (2) "Minuet and Trio in C" (Chopin); the awards were made as follows:

Dorothy Adams 75-75-155
Madeline Thompson 75-75-150
Helen Bates 75-75-148

Mr. Barford, the adjudicator, said that in his opinion memorizing has been a bad for over 100 years. He said, "One who can memorize can make a better job of playing," but for ordinary people he advised taking the extra time in practicing, adding that he would not give any extra marks for memorizing.

Miss Dorothy Adams, who was the only competitor in the senior piano solo, delighted her audience with her interpretation of "Gavotte in D" (Bach) and "Waltz in C Sharp" (Chopin).

Vocal Solos

Mrs. J. M. Sweeney was the only competitor in the contralto solo competition. In both selections she was excellent. Her first selection was "I Love the Sound of Music" and for her second choice "Picking a Strawberry Song."

The adjudicator, after complimenting Mrs. Sweeney on her interpretation and beautiful tones, said that he was sorry that she had chosen the "Strawberry Song," as he would like to have heard her in a better and bigger selection.

In the tenor competitions the places were made as follows:

M. Boyd 75-75-140
E. M. Lambert 75-75-135
Fred Laughton was given 68 for his first song. Mr. Barford said that Mr. Laughton had wonderful possibilities and advised him to study further under a competent teacher. The first selection in this class was "The Ship of Fools." For his second selection Mr. Boyd chose "Shanty Boy" and Mr. Lambert selected "O Fair O Sweet O Holy."

W. S. Porteous was complimented by the adjudicator on his two bass solos. Of course Mr. Barford offered constructive criticism.

Piano Duets

In the piano duets, Juniors, the awards were made as follows:

Heinrich Bates and Marie Henning 65
Hannah Poppen and Dorothy Adams 62

The open competition in the piano duets was a fitting conclusion to the evening's program, both teams playing excellently. The placings were:

Madeline Thompson and Mrs. Vaughan 82
Mrs. Butchart and Dorothy Adams 77

In making his adjudication Mr. Barford said that both teams were very good.

THURSDAY MORNING (At Capitol Theatre)

Piano Solos, Beginners (1) "In the Garden" (Rowley); (2) "The Rose Garden" (Rowley).

Marian Bunyan first, Dorothy Johnson second.

Before beginning his remarks, Mr. Barford asked the children to go on to the stage with him. He said the two pieces were chosen from a suite called "The Dream Cottage." "The Old Tapestry" should be very, very smooth. Little children cannot be expected to make a lot of noise on the piano. Mr. Barford told the children that they all had eight fingers and two thumbs, and they must learn to play with them all, using their finger joints as hinges. He advised the teachers, too, not to take shur marks as absolute gospel. "Too much music is published with the shur all wrong," he said, "and if you feel they are wrong, have the courage to ignore them."

He especially commented on the following children:

Marian Bunyan—Nice speed and careful attention to marked expression. In the second piece the time was not quite strict. This little girl has a very sensitive touch. Marks, 74 and 70; total, 144.

Dorcas Johnson—Nice speed, but touch heavy in parts. True very well, although the piece might have flowed better. Her second number was too slow and certain tied notes were disregarded. Marks, 71 and 69; total, 137.

Jean Wavay—Nice speed and careful fingering, but the time was not steady. Marks, 70 and 65; total, 135.

Mary Hatten—Nice speed in first piece, though uncertain in spots. Loud phrases too loud. Legato not always perfect. In second piece the time was a little slow and tied notes not quite safe. One or two fingerings disregarded.

The other results were: James Thomson, 34 and 54; total, 108. Ellen Sumner, 53 and 56; total, 109. Annie Smart, 55 and 54; total, 109. Lila Mae Roberts, 54 and 56; total, 104.

Piano Solos, Juniors

(1) "Fun on Deck" (2) "Shanty." Jack Edwards first, Mildred Henning second.

Mr. Barford congratulated the committee on choosing two lovely pieces perfectly contrasted. The "slow Shanty" song is one which sailors sing when going round the capstan while hauling in the anchor or pulling up sails. One sailor stands in the centre and sings while the others are working to make the sailors keep in step. "Do not think of it in that way," Mr. Barford said, "but rather as sung by an old salt longing to be on the high seas again, but too old for service."

One or two played this piece very well indeed, bringing out the melody, but others were too heavy.

"Fun on Deck" should be quick and sparkling and should convey some of the bubble and sparkle of the sun-line on the rippling waves. Very few took it up to speed.

Calling the children on to the stage with him, Mr. Barford commented on the work of the following:

Jack Edwards—"Shanty" a shade too fast, but the piano sang well. "Fun on Deck" was very nice, being lively and bright.

Mildred Henning—"A shade too fast in 'Shanty' but the piano sang well. Some chords were a bit heavy. The second piece was a shade too given. She was awarded the highest mark given for playing 'Shanty' 84, and 72 for 'Fun on Deck'.

Maria Trell—Gave one of the best versions of "Fun on Deck" though a brighter touch would have been better. Her playing on the whole was brilliant and lively. In "Shanty" she got a fair singing tone.

Peter Lawler—"A bit fast in 'Shanty.' Fairly correct, though not very musical. "Fun on Deck" was a bit too slow and lacked variety.

Mary Lyons—Nice flow in the right hand, a little inaccuracy in time. In the second piece there was nice work and the accompaniment was good.

Alena Proud—"The Shanty" was a little too fast, but was accurate and rhythmic. She gave lots of life to the second piece.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON (At the Capitol Theatre)

One-Act Plays, Open

Contestants and play: Christ Church Dramatic Club, "Worst-Plummary"; Good Companion Club, "The Slave With Two Faces"; Christ Church Dramatic Club, "Campbell of Kilmorey."

Mr. Cohen said that this afternoon's adjudication was far from easy, in fact it was one of the most difficult fact he has ever had to make.

Taking the plays in order of presentation, Mr. Cohen said that "Worst-Plummary" was a happy choice. The comedy was well done and opened with nice speed, which dropped as the play progressed. He said the play would have been more effective had there been more speed, more movement, and had the members of the cast learnt their choruses. Several times, he said, the voice of the prompter could be heard and it was the obvious searching for lines that dropped the speed of the comedy.

The characterization on the whole was good. He especially commented on the excellent characterization of Mr. Crawshaw (Mr. Frank Spier).

Mr. Dennis Clifton (Rev. E. Jackson) and Miss Crawshaw (Miss Dorothy Crumby).

The setting and costumes were adequate and the team work very good.

"The Slave With Two Faces." Mr. Cohen said, is one of the most beautiful one-act plays ever written.

The cast did very well. It was a difficult play, well handled.

Talking of "Life" (Mr. M. Fowler), he said there were but few suggestions he could make, but Life could have used bigger tones, and his laugh could have been more varied.

The mood of the play was well created by the lighting and setting. They achieved what they set out to do. The rhythm was not too well created, but the team work was excellent.

"Campbell of Kilmorey." In this play the mood was well created, though it was a trifle slow in spots.

Mr. Cohen spoke of the difficulty of playing in dialect, and said the cast of "Campbell of Kilmorey" could do excellent work in a more suitable play.

The team work was excellent and the soldiers were very good indeed. The costumes were excellent and the lighting quite good.

Mr. Cohen remarked that the cast were fortunate in having an Archie Campbell who had such a beautiful voice.

The adjudication was as follows: First place, "Campbell of Kilmorey"; second place, "Slave With Two Faces."

Certificates and medals were then presented to the following:

Marie Henning and Dorothy Bates, junior piano duet. Certificates.

Mr. A. E. Galloway, president of the Musical Festival, after the presentation of trophies said that the cups were competed for year by year and never became the property of the winners.

However, the winners of shields for three years in succession were entitled to keep their shields.

There were two shields still unclaimed—the Male Voice Choir Shield for small church choirs, and the shield for school orchestras.

Rev. Mr. Thorpe of Spirit River then spoke on behalf of the outside towns and rural districts. He said they appreciated the reception they had received from the Festival committee and from the citizens of Grande Prairie. He hoped that next year they would come back again stronger than ever.

During the course of the evening the three adjudicators were asked to speak. The visiting adjudicators said they had had a very enjoyable visit to Grande Prairie. They were most appreciative of the work that had been done in this Festival.

Mr. Balfour said he hoped to make the shortest speech of the evening, just two words: "Thank you."

The evening closed with presentation of the winning play, "Campbell of Kilmorey," followed by the Festival dance.

Eighty-six men more than 50 years of age were married in the Old Country in 1933, according to official statistics.

ROYAL ACADEMY ACCEPTS CANVAS BY CANADIAN ARTIST

A notable event of the current art season was the acceptance by the hanging committee of the Royal Academy, London, of a portrait of Aemilia Jarvis, painted by Archibald Burns, Toronto, for the 1934 annual exhibition. Mr. Burns, although a comparatively young man, has had as sitters a number of distinguished public men and women of the Mother Country, and has had paintings in previous Royal Academy exhibitions. Above we see the canvas which was accepted by the Royal Academy, and (at right), a photo of Mr. Burns in his studio.

The machine has a length of but 18 feet and a wing span of 23 feet and is fitted with a 140 h.p. D. H. Gipsy Major engine. The plane is said to be capable of an average speed of 200 miles per hour. It is probable he may compete in the forthcoming London-Melbourne air race later this year.

Gleanings of Interest To the Women Folks

By THE GLEANER

PRECIOUS

By Ursula Brown

How precious are the simple things:
A little on the lawn that has just
An angle-nook, where chestnuts rustle,
The pleasant smell of buttered toast!
A little garden, where the flowers grow
To keep you from the heat of the hour.
Gold petticoats daffodil green,
The polka-dot valentines.
A little corder, black and white,
The place, but what delight!
A little older every day
I set aside to pray.
To thank God for the joy life brings
In such a wealth of simple things.

GLEANER WINS PRIZE FOR BIGGEST WHOPPER

Candians are truth-lovers—believe it or not—otherwise how is it that there has not been one single "whopper" sent in for the "Lizars" Competition?

I have decided to win the prize for myself with these two entries:

These big-game hunting stories are absolutely true. If you do not believe me, write to the Game Warden or the Head Zoo Keeper (or is it Zoo Head Keeper?)—or the Governor of Nairobi——and ask him.

A Kenya resident was filming lions in the Serengeti park. He had set down two sedans not very far from each other, and was waiting ready to get on with his work. At the same time a flock of vultures alighted on the other side. The lion roared, and his own scribe, immediately rushed to the other side to kill it. The vulture then settled on the first sedan. The lion dashed back to it, whereupon the vulture returned to the second sedan. The game went on for a long time, and the lion was exhausted, and was weary against a tree. The man with the camera was sorry for the poor lion, and, feeling it would be quite safe, filled his washing bowl with water and carried it to the animal. The grateful beast lapped up the water while the Kenya man picked up the film. The film is being shown in Nairobi now.

A giraffe swallowed a watch. Some months later it staggered into the same hunter's camp and dropped dead. A post mortem revealed the watch still going, stuck in the animal's throat. Every time the giraffe cleared its throat it revolved the watch. Yes!—

DAUGHTERS OF TODAY—NOT ALL ARE FREE AND INDEPENDENT

Does youth invariably dominate even now?

Are there no young people who submit to a soft, reluctant tyranny that saps their spirit just as surely as did the hard, deliberate tyranny of the past?

Most novelties, playwrights, preachers and school teachers appear to think—some with approval, some with disapproval—that at this stage of the twentieth century there are jossante parents, no submissive sons or frustrated daughters except those that linger on, stolidly, negligently, rather ludicrously from a dead past, to contrast with the youthful modernity.

There is a new bondage in which the plight of the children is worse, because infinitely more hopeful and far-reaching than was that of the Victorian.

In earlier days a father, tyrannical and omniscient as he might be, could at least provide for his women folk, and if he could not afford to provide for his sons they were at least free to face life without having mothers and sisters to look after.

There were exceptions, but that was the rule.

ANNAPOLIS VALLEY APPLE BLOSSOM FESTIVAL WILL BE HELD JUNE 1, 2, 3, AND 4

KENTVILLE, N. S., May 22.—Bathurst in the valley breeze which flows gently through the Annapolis Valley early in the month of May, the apple blossoms are in full bloom for the second annual Apple Blossom Festival.

The festival for four days, June 1, 2, 3, and 4. Officials at the Dominion Exhibition station here, after a careful survey of the apple belt, confirmed this statement and advised the preparation of a program which will be the most attractive and scenic feature of the festival.

And while Mother Nature is doing her best to duplicate the unparalleled success of the first festival, held last year, community promoters of the second valley-wide observance of apple blossom time are busily engaged in the preparation of a program which will far exceed its predecessor.

An invitation to the friends and neighbors of the valley is now being carried on to have the officers and men of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who are expected to dock in Halifax on June 1, to participate in the festival.

We're dizzy from looking at prints. After a thorough tour of the smartest stores, we found that the latest in women's wardrobe contains at least two or three lovely printed frocks for spring and summer wear.

Prints are more attractive than ever. There are large and small designs, light prints and dark prints. Morning frocks, street frocks, afternoon ensembles, and evening clothes, are all available in a variety of striking printed fashions.

Many of the street and afternoon frocks come with their own coats. The coat may be in a shade that contrasts with the frock, it may be in the same color as the predominating print, or it may be in the same shade as the background.

PIG MARKET IMPROVEMENT

The bright spot in Canada's live stock market during 1933 was pigs, according to the Annual Market Review for last year, now being issued by the Department of Agriculture.

This review covers the domestic and export situation with regard to cattle, hogs and bacon, sheep and lambs, and the commodities are based on actual business transactions and a close observation of the conditions generally prevailing in the market.

Prices and disposition complete an annual and helpful annual review. This review covers the domestic and export situation with regard to cattle, hogs and bacon, sheep and lambs, and the commodities are based on actual business transactions and a close observation of the conditions generally prevailing in the market.

Imports of hams into the United Kingdom during 1933 totaled 50,140 cwt., of which Canada supplied 72,488 cwt. These also doubled in 1932 and last year Canada stood second to the United States with 130,000 cwt., or about 20 per cent of the total imports. A recent report from London, England, states favorable comments on the quality of Canadian hams and hams are now common. The report goes on to state, however, that it should be noted that the further improvement is unnecessary, particularly in the right type of side and uniformity in these large quantities. A knowledge of how to breed and feed to produce the best quality of hams for export is essential if those now going into the production business wish to take full advantage of the Ottawa agreement.
